Farm, Atomic Programs Eyed By Eisenhower

Congressional Advisers Called In For Another White House Parley

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower plunged into two of the most controversial topics in his legislative program—atomic development and farm price supports—in his second round of conferences today with Republican congressional leaders.

In advance of the meeting, Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said he sees no reason to change his consistent opposition to "giving away our atomic secrets to any foreign countries."

Eisenhower has said he will ask Congress to relax some of the present statutory provisions against transmitting atomic information to America's allies, although he said this would not include any of the technical secrets involved in making atomic weapons.

The President said last night his first day's conference with GOP congressional leaders and committee chairmen had reaffirmed his confidence that "the Republican party will continue to present a successful, sound and productive program that will serve the welfare of 160 million Americans."

THE PRESIDENT said the conference agreed there would be "a continuation of the substantial progress this administration already has made" in cutting the federal budget. He added:

"In fiscal 1955 (beginning next July 1) we will continue this progress by further reduction of expenditures and further reduction of new spending authority."

The first day's look by the President's advisers and the legislative leaders, he said, covered the proposed new defense program, foreign aid operations, absentee voting for overseas armed services personnel, housing, proposed labor law amendments, unemployment insurance benefits and the government's budget.

THE OVER-ALL forecast of federal spending for the new fiscal year apparently was awaiting decisions not only on the whopping defense budget but upon outlays which may be necessary for the new Eisenhower farm program.

If this program involves continuation of present crop price supports, as most lawmakers believed it would, the drain on the Treasury might be heavy.

But whatever the drain, Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.), chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, says he thinks that by "getting things in line" Congress could

Bender Off On Race For Senate Seat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. George H. Bender, self-styled "100 per cent" supporter of President Eisenhower, is off and running for the Republican senatorial nomination in Ohio's primary next May.

Bender, long a GOP leader in the Cleveland area and now serving his seventh term in the House, is the first Republican in the field. He is seeking the seat now held by Sen. Burke (D-Ohio), who was appointed to the Senate by Gov. Frank J. Lausche after the death of Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Ohio voters next fall will choose the candidate they want to serve out the remaining two years of Taft's six-year term.

Bender told newsmen he knows of "no serious opposition" to his bid for the GOP nomination. Burke has announced he will seek the Democratic nomination and he, too, has said he sees no opposition in his party.

Bender says he is "one of 17 Republican congressmen in the House this year who voted 100 per cent every test for the Eisenhower administration."

During the last national Republican nomination convention, Bender was one of the loudest voices backing the late Senator Taft against Eisenhower. During the Taft demonstration, Bender mounted the speaker's rostrum, clanged a large bell and attempted to lead the throng in singing "Onward Christian Soldiers."

He worked closely with Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) during the latter's noted and bitter attack on Gov. Tom Dewey of New York who had topped lead Eisenhower's successful bid for nomination.

40 Deaths Coming

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Ohio State Safety Council estimates 40 persons will be killed in Ohio over the three-day Christmas weekend, 36 in traffic accidents. Last year, when the holiday period extended four days—Thursday through Sunday—48 persons met death.

ROBERT G. THOMPSON (right), convicted Communist leader who narrowly escaped death recently at the hands of a fellow prisoner in the Federal House of Detention, is handcuffed to Deputy Marshal Harry McCabe as he is taken to Federal Court in New York. Thompson, found guilty of contempt of court, faces sentence. A former GI, he was declared to have ignored a court order to surrender in 1951 and begin a three year term as a Communist conspirator.

Four Questions Top City's List As Old Year Fades, 1954 Nears

At least three questions of particular importance to municipal Circleville probably will get their answers before the new year is well under way. And a fourth seems to be reaching its first big day of decision even before 1953 is torn off the calendars.

Pro-and-con discussions on all four have been current through recent weeks, but no one in official capacity claims to know how things will turn out for:

1. The pay-raise-or-quit ultimatum issued over the signatures of five city policemen.
2. The vacancy in prospect as Councilman Joe Brink prepares to yield his seat on City Council.
3. The problem of appointing a city health director.
4. The delicately-balanced position of the city's annexation drive.

PUBLIC DECISIONS on the first three are not scheduled until January, but Pickaway County commissioners have promised a ruling on the annexation drive at their first meeting after Christmas, on Dec. 28. Already holding a few uncertainties in connection with the new municipal court, City Hall's picture of things-to-come can be influenced considerably by any one of the four matters still under study.

Five city patrolmen, who claim they're going to quit at midnight Jan. 5 unless they're given definite assurance of a pay boost, indicated they weren't surprised when Council failed to act on the issue in regular meeting last Tuesday night. They say they're aware of strong opposition to the increase, and add that they're just as firm in their determination to get it, "or else."

Watching the matter closely and warning that they expect the "same consideration" are the city firemen. They have issued no ultimatum.

Dean Returns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Special Ambassador Arthur Dean, expressing a personal view that Korea will have peace, readied an official report today on his so-far fruitless negotiations for a Korean peace conference.

Army Tells Workings Of New Nike, Uncanny Guided Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army took some of the secrecy wraps off its uncanny, bomber-hunter guided missile last night and said the first battery of an eventual national system of such anti-aircraft weapons is being placed.

On the basis of official disclosures, an Army motion picture and other information available, it may be said the guided missile, named Nike, can:

1. Streak at an enemy bomber at a speed of probably 1,500 miles an hour.
2. Locate and track the plane, despite evasive action, and destroy it in flaming wreckage even though the missile contacts only an outer part of a wing.
3. "Knock down a jet-powered aircraft of any known capacity" in speed or maneuverability.

The Nike is about 20 feet long, a foot thick over most of its length, giving it the appearance of a huge pencil with steering fins fore and aft.

THE FIRST Nike unit is being set up at Ft. Meade, Md., headquarters of the 2nd Army. From there Nike missiles can provide protection for an area embracing the nation's capital, Baltimore's big industries and port facilities and a number of military installations in the Chesapeake Bay and Potomac River region.

Ike Envisions Air Speed Of 82,500 Mph.

Chief Poses Puzzler In Light Talk Honoring Wright Brothers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower envisions the possibility of airplanes traveling at the fantastic speed of 82,500 miles an hour 50 years from now.

And he wonders with no little bewilderment what might happen if that speed eventually were doubled. He asked: "If you travel faster than light, will you go blind?"

The President posed that puzzle (and touched off much laughter with it) during an informal talk last night at a dinner marking the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

Eisenhower said he recently read that in 1903, when the Wright brothers made the first successful powered flight, an air speed of 30 miles an hour was considered a very good performance.

"Then I noted, almost in the same day's paper," the President said, "that someone recently flew 1,650 miles an hour."

"IN 50 YEARS we've multiplied the speed of travel 50 times, and let's go ahead until 2003. My grandson will then be half a dozen years younger than I am now."

"But if we keep up this same rate, he will see airplanes traveling at 82,500 miles an hour, if my mental arithmetic is somewhat correct."

"Now, beyond that, you have only to double it and you are at the speed of light. Then we will have the physicists talk about what is going to happen when you pierce the radiant barrier. It will be an interesting problem for them. If you travel faster than light, will you go blind?"

FLEXIBLE SUPPORT PLAN IS ENDORSED

Kidnap-Killers Talk Calmly As They Die In Gas Chamber

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady died together in the gas chamber early today for the kidnap slaying of 6-year-old Bobby Greenleaf, still talking calmly to each other as the deadly fumes rolled up around their faces.

Just before he was taken into the gas tank at the Missouri State Prison, Hall, the 34-year-old wastrel heir to a $200,000 fortune, puffed on a cigarette. He passed it to Mrs. Heady, his 41-year-old paramour, for a puff as they talked for the last time.

When they were strapped into the chairs, Mrs. Heady asked Hall:

"Are you doing all right, honey?"

"Yes, Mama," Hall replied. His lips were red as if he had received a last kiss from the plump, dark-haired woman who helped him kidnap and slay little Bobby Sept. 28.

Warden Ralph N. Eidson, who tripped the lever which sent cyanide gas curling around the faces of the kidnapers in a white cloud, said the pair had been "just as normal as they could be" since they entered the prison Nov. 20.

"I don't think we've had any more normal prisoners than they were down here," he said.

The Rev. George L. Evans, Episcopal rector from Kansas City, Kan., who was Hall's spiritual adviser, said both prisoners were "absolutely and completely reconciled" to death.

"They are prepared to meet Almighty God," he said after praying with them.

Neither of the kidnapers showed any outward signs of fear although Hall breathed deeply while being strapped into the death chair. The chamber door clanged shut on them at 12:04 a. m. Thirty seconds later Warden Eidson tripped the lever which dropped cyanide powder into two jars of sulphuric acid beneath the death chairs.

White fumes rose around the couple. Hall took a big gulp as the fumes hit his face but Mrs. Heady appeared to hold her breath for an instant.

Their heads jerked back. There were a few convulsive movements. Then both were unconscious.

At 12:12 a. m. Hall was dead. Mrs. Heady kept breathing for another 2 minutes and 10 seconds. One of the prison doctors, G.

Donald Shull, said her breathing lasted longer than any person he had ever seen die in the chamber.

In the last few days law enforcement officers have made strenuous efforts to find out what happened to the missing half of the ransom.

Another last-minute effort was made just before their deaths but failed.

"Have you anything to tell me?" U. S. Marshal William B. Tatman asked both prisoners after they were blindfolded and strapped into the death chairs.

Both shook their heads and Mrs. Heady added aloud: "No."

Their last audible words before the door was sealed were: "Thanks for everything," and "Goodbye" to the guards who had watched over them in the last few days.

But they kept on talking to each other for the few seconds it took to seal the chamber.

Did they talk about the little boy they planned to kill even before they abducted him? Their few months of illicit love together? Or were they just two human souls trying to brace each other for death?

Witnesses peering through the thick glass windows of the gas tank couldn't hear.

All the witnesses knew was what prison and law enforcement officials have reported in recent days: that Hall did not regret the crime so much as he did his own stupidity in getting caught.

He was arrested in St. Louis Oct. 6 after police were tipped that a man with a lot of money was on a drunken spending spree. He led officers to Mrs. Heady's hideout a few hours later. And that, according to guards who have been close to her, was her biggest disappointment. They had planned a life of luxury with the $600,000 they got in their vicious plot. But today $4.40 worth of chemicals killed them both.

85 Jurors Named For January Term Of Common Pleas Court

A group of 85 Pickaway County residents was selected Friday for possible jury duty during the January term of Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

The jury is composed of the names of 15 persons as grand jurors and 70 persons selected for the petit jury list.

The list of petit jurors for the forthcoming term of court is much larger than in the past. Previously, petit jury lists for any one term of court have contained the names of only 50 persons.

Judge William D. Radcliff explained he asked for the larger list because of increased activities in his court. He explained the court plans to divide the jury list into two shifts of 35 persons each, with each section eligible for duty every three weeks or so.

NAMES OF THE 85 persons selected for jury duty are as follows:

Ohio Christmas Shopping Booms

COLUMBUS (AP)—More money is being spent in Ohio Christmas shopping so far this year than during a similar period in 1952. Sales tax collections show a 14 per cent increase over last year for the week ending Dec. 5.

It was the biggest week's total in the current fiscal year. Tax receipts were $4,760,516, a gain of $589,627 over the corresponding week last year.

Total receipts for the 23-week period totaled $83,925,857, an increase of $8,550,932 over a similar 1952 period.

The cold spell brought zero to Cincinnati, 1 above to Columbus and Circleville, 3 above to Akron and 5 above to Toledo. The Weather Bureau said it was the coldest Dec. 18 for Columbus in 69 years.

The cold snapped power lines and left part of the city without electricity for about two hours.

For the weekend temperatures are expected to rise, but still will average 4-8 degrees below normal.

Rail Unions OK New Wage Setup

CHICAGO (AP)—A wage dispute between the nation's railroads and a rail union was settled yesterday with an agreement providing for a pay raise for some 200,000 workers.

Under the agreement between the carriers and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, an additional five cents an hour was added to the present wage rates. Previous scales are estimated at $14.50 a day for yard workers and $13.50 for road workers. The union represents conductors, switchmen, brakemen and dining car stewards.

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The top neutral officer in Korea indicated today that reluctant war prisoners, including 22 Americans, may get a last chance to change their minds after the explanations end.

Meanwhile, hopes dwindled that Allied persuasion teams will meet the Americans before the deadline next Wednesday midnight.

The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission put off until Monday consideration of demands by pro-Communist South Korean prisoners which the Americans and one British prisoner say must be met before they will attend interviews.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the repatriation commission, said he might "take up at a later date" the possibility of screening all prisoners who have refused to return to their homelands.

Farm Bureau Keeps 90 Pct. Parity Handy

Federation's Move Rules Out Mandatory High Level Props

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Farm Bureau Federation has endorsed flexible farm price supports after 1954, but with a proviso that 90 per cent price floors can be invoked for any basis crop under certain conditions.

The federation, which ended its 35th annual convention yesterday, re-elected Allan B. Kline, an Iowa farmer, to his fourth term as president.

In the convention's final day, delegates defeated a flat proposal that the federation seek continuation of mandatory high level price supports for major crops through the 1956 crop year.

The convention then followed President Kline's leadership in advocating flexible price supports, which could be increased in times of crop shortages and lowered in times of surpluses to discourage over-planting. However, the convention made this suggestion:

THAT THE 1949 farm act specifying flexible supports, which Congress has decided shall not become effective until 1955, be amended to guarantee producers of a basic crop 90 per cent of parity instead of the flexible floor during the first year they vote production controls after a non-control year.

Thus, if Congress allows the 1949 flexible supports law to become effective in 1955 with the recommended amendment, producers of corn and rice, who have not adopted acreage restrictions for next year, would be able, by voting for production controls in 1955, to assure themselves 90 per cent of parity price supports for the 1955 crops.

This change, however, could not be applied to wheat, cotton, tobacco and peanuts, for which 1954 planting controls have been

Corn Harvest Is Valued At $4½ Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—A corn crop valued at more than $4½ billion topped a list of this year's near-record crops reported yesterday by the Agriculture Department.

Cotton ranked second in value with a crop listed as worth just over $3 billion.

Well over the $2 billion mark were wheat and hay. Tobacco and commercial vegetables were valued at more than $1 billion each.

The crop values were obtained by multiplying the estimated 1953 production by the estimated average prices received by farmers during the year.

The actual cash income to farmers was well below this "value of production" for such crops as corn and other grains fed or to be fed to livestock on the farms.

The Federal Crop Reporting Board reported this year's harvest, despite widespread drought, just about equalled that of 1952, which was the second largest in history.

The bumper yields were attributed to record and above average harvests per acre.

The crop board said farmers received an average of $1.45 a bushel for corn this year compared with $1.52 last year.

This year's wheat crop averaged $2.01 a bushel and the 1953 hay crop averaged $22 a ton.

Upper Hocking Project Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has announced approval of 20 more small water sheds including one on Upper Hocking River, taking in Hunter's Run in Fairfield County, Ohio.

D. A. Williams, administrator of the Soil Conservation Service, said the series of little dams on farms and upstream areas built under a $5 million pilot program authorized by Congress will replace the past system of constructing multi-million dollar flood control dams downstream.

bring the Treasury's cash income and outgo into line in the next fiscal year.

This would mean that the regular budget would show a deficit of about $4 billion, represented in Treasury receipts for government trust funds.

HICKENLOOPER said he thinks there is a "fair chance" of balancing the budget without any tax increase.

"I think there can be some rearranging of our expenditures as a result of our experiences this year," he said.

He said he believes there will be some cut in military outlays without weakening U. S. defensive strength. However, Chairman Short (D-Mo) of the House Armed Services Committee said he doesn't expect the military budget to be ready for another week.

Joseph M. Dodge, the budget director, said as he left the White House last night that the administration has not yet arrived at any over-all budget figure for the year beginning July 1.

Circleville Junior High Sets Example For Senior Cagers

If Circleville Junior High School's basketball performance against Washington Junior High Thursday night can be considered an omen, there'll be a hot time in Circleville Friday night.

The Junior High quintet, sparked by young Bill Johnson, soundly trounced the visiting Washington outfit 45-27 on the night before Circleville High goes to meet Washington's varsity in the Fayette County seat.

Johnson scored 23 points, of which 20 were from the field. Backing him up were Fred Garner, with a total of 10; Fred Sines, 3; Bill Schneider, one bucket; Mike Hosler, a charity ringer; and Nelson Kelly with two from the field and two free shots. High scorer for the Washingtonians was Shackleford with 12, followed by Swain with nine.

The score by quarters:

ter was Air Force Maj. Charles E. Yeager, who set the speed record of over 1,600 miles an hour to which Eisenhower referred.

Actually, the President's mental arithmetic had a flaw in it. The speed of light is 186,300 miles a second. Eisenhower's figures slowed it all down when he talked in terms of miles per hour.

The President, in a more serious vein, said a mighty American air force is an absolute necessity "if we are to preserve this country inviolate" from enemy attack.

He also declared, however, that actually no amount of armed force of whatever nature is surefire insurance against aggression.

The real insurance, he declared, is a deep universal appreciation of spiritual and moral values—appreciation by potential enemies as well as by Americans.

Farm Bureau Wage Hike Authorized

COLUMBUS (U-P)—The Farm Bureau insurance companies today announced a wage revision program which will add up to $2 million to the payroll.

President Murray D. Lincoln said some 5,000 employees in a 13-state operating territory will be affected.

Lincoln said by March 31, every employee will be reviewed for a possible raise on a merit basis. He said the new program results from a survey began by the companies last February when the elimination of federal controls made upward revisions possible.

Four Questions Loom For City At Year's End

saary totals to the general fund.

IT HAS already been explained the city will receive additional help in tax funds and from other sources, but individual Councilmen also stress it isn't the whole story either as far as costs are concerned. They emphasize the auditor's figures are only for salaries, and they say the expenses of the two departments also must be considered if any attempt were made to weigh all factors in the problem.

At least four persons have been recitly mentioned as being in the "running" for the Council vacancy expected when Brink yields his seat. He has moved outside the corporation and announced last Tuesday night that he will leave Council, probably at Council's first meeting of the new year, Jan. 5. Queried as to his successor, Brink said:

"It's something that is entirely up to Council."

Members of the lawmaking body say the new appointive will need only a majority of those voting when the time comes to pick Brink's replacement. Two local businessmen are among those described as having "a good chance" to get the job. In the meantime, Clarence Helvering, elected without opposition Nov. 3, is scheduled to replace Councilman John Robinson, who made an unsuccessful try for the mayor's post.

Mayor-elect Robert Hedges has yet to give a clue as to the person he favors to head the city health branch under his administration. Widespread belief is that the mayor can recommend the official and that the city health board normally follows the recommendation in picking the health director. But this procedure may also be challenged on a legal basis.

Hedges has picked Magistrate Oscar Root to step into the job of city safety director. Under the outgoing administration of Mayor Ed Amey, C. O. Leist served as director of both the health and safety departments.

THERE WAS little on the surface to indicate how the deep currents were flowing on the question of the city's annexation plan, designed as the first big step of a long-range expansion program. The annexation move, labeled "a golden opportunity" that may not come again for generations, has the enthusiastic backing of many community groups and individual civic leaders.

But the county commissioners put off their decision on the proposal last Monday for two weeks. They took the action after being notified some of the affected property owners want to change their status—for or against the idea.

Seven motorists were fined a total of $90 and costs Thursday before the court of Mayor Ed Amey for minor traffic miscues.

Clark Zwayer, 28, of Circleville, was fined $10 and costs for driving without an operator's license. He was arrested on E. Mill St. by Officers Ludwell Mills and Charles Smith.

Jack Young of Circleville was fined $10 and costs for speeding at 65 on Route 22. He was arrested by State Patrolman Bob Greene.

Clyde Clay of Columbus was fined $20 and costs for speeding at 70 on Route 104. He was arrested by State Patrolman Bob Greene.

Mike Hertenstein Jr. of Chillicothe was fined $5 and costs for crossing a yellow line on S. Court St. He was arrested by Officer Rod List.

Escar Stover of Biloxi, Miss., was fined $15 and costs for failure to file registration. He was arrested on N. Court St. by Police Sgt. George Green and Officer Smith.

Leland Elf of Wisconsin was fined $10 and costs for operating a truck not equipped with mud flaps. He was arrested by State Patrolman S. J. Hobar.

Robert Stephens of Michigan was fined $20 and costs for crossing a yellow line on Route 23. He was arrested by Patrol Cpl. W. D. Braucher.

Mrs. Lucy Crissinger, 77, formerly of Pickaway Township, died at about 5:30 a. m. Friday in the home of her son, R. V. Crissinger at 404 S. Eureka Ave., Columbus.

County Home Children Ready For Lockbourne Yule Party

Happy chatter of kids "making a day of it" will blend into a background of roaring airplane engines Saturday in one of the district's most elaborate and unusual Christmas celebrations.

Nearly all of the 13 girls and 15 boys in Pickaway County Children's Home will be the guests of Uncle Sam's Air Force at the big Lockbourne base. Winfield Koch, superintendent of the Home, said the group plans to leave for the airbase at 10:30 a. m.

Airmen from the big installation extended the invitation here a few weeks ago, and arrangements since that time have been under the direction of Headquarters Squadron Section of the 26th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing. Capt. Richard B. Franz, commander of the unit, explained his outfit will be in charge, but men from various other groups also will join in the day-long program.

The headquarters unit, which includes men from all over the nation, has outlined a program which will include luncheon, a show, a tour of the airbase and distribution of Christmas gifts. Koch said it looms as the biggest Yuletide party ever given the children from the home.

voted, until 1956—and then only if no acreage controls were adopted in 1955.

The federation also recommended a safeguard against use of acres diverted from production of controlled crops to avoid excessive supplies of any other crop receiving price supports.

This would be accomplished by designation of crops by the secretary of agriculture, on a geographical basis, which could not be produced for sale, or for which sale must be limited, when they are grown on land diverted from raising of price-supported crops.

The federation also called for "vigorous" steps to reduce a present $4 billion surplus of farm products which, it said, interferes with proper working of price support and other farm programs.

It urged re-building of shrinking foreign markets for farm goods and developing of new markets at home to absorb surplus production which is now depressing farm prices.

Fire At Local Home Is Blamed On Stove

Circleville fire department was called at 1:50 p. m. Thursday to turn off gas in the home of Mrs. Enid Denham, 455 E. Franklin St., after flames from a heater burned a section of flooring.

Firemen were told a turn-off valve accidentally was bumped off the stove, causing it to flare out of control. Damage was estimated at $5.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise meanwhile warned local residents that gas stoves require extra precautions with the beginning of near-zero weather. He said:

"The time is here again when people who use gas stoves for winter heating need to be reminded that special risks are involved. And this goes not only for the risk of having clothing catch fire but also for the even more dangerous fumes given off by almost all the stoves, no matter what the salesmen may tell you.

"There's nothing new about these dangers, and no special warning should even be necessary—but every time Winter weather comes around we find that, here and there, people are still absentminded when it comes to gas heaters. With the added dangers represented by the excitement and preparations for the Christmas celebrations, this reminder is especially important now."

Charles V. Arledge Jr., 29, of 115 1/2 E. Main St., was bound to Pickaway County grand jury on a non-support accusation Thursday in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root.

Arledge furnished $300 bond. Accusation was filed by his wife, Rosemary.

City Man, 46, Suffers Rifle Wound In Head

A 46-year-old Circleville man was in serious condition Friday noon in University hospital, Columbus, receiving treatment for a gunshot wound in his head.

Circleville police identified the man as Gene Smith, 46, of 381 Town St., who apparently attempted to take his own life late Thursday in his home.

Officer Ludwell Mills said he was called to the Smith home at about 8 p. m. Thursday and found the victim lying across the bed.

Mills said Smith suffered a wound in his head, just back of his right ear. The wound was caused by a .22 calibre pellet, a "long," fired from a rifle which was found leaning against the foot of Smith's bed, Mills reported.

MEMBERS of the Smith family told the officer they had been sitting at the dinner table and Smith had been drinking some coffee, which apparently made him sick. He went into the bedroom, they said, and soon afterward they heard a shot.

Smith was rushed into Berger hospital for emergency treatment and then transferred into University hospital, Columbus.

Mills said Smith is married and has three children. He is an employee at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Airman Bound Over To Grand Jurors

Sgt. Weldon G. Perkins, 24, was bound to Pickaway County grand jury Thursday before the Court of Magistrate Oscar Root on arson charges arising from destruction of Perkins' automobile Dec. 10.

Perkins, who comes from the 801st Supply Squad at Lockbourne Air Force Base, furnished $500 cash bond and was freed to await action by the jurors.

The Air Force member assertedly confessed wrecking and burning his automobile because he was worried about overdue car payments.

Perkins specifically is charged with "burning property to defraud the insurer."

Ohio Business To Be Good In '54, Many Say

It May Be A Little Below '53, But Still Prosperous, Is Belief

Editor's Note: The following is the first of a series of two articles surveying Ohio business prospects for 1954.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The year 1953 set the stage for peak prosperity for many Ohioans, then jolted them toward the end of the year with the off-again on-again of a ghost called recession.

The strained finish of 1953 begs the question, "What about '54?"

The question is on the lips of many, from the farmer who fared not too well in 1953 to the industrialist who may have seen orders at a peak but saw also signs of tough competition ahead. Even the busiest retailer—and some are literally too busy now with Christmas trade to bother about predictions—has a weather eye on next year's prospects.

Here is the consensus of economists, federal and state officials and leaders in business and industry:

1954 will be a good year. Maybe not quite as good as 1953, but still good.

The air is full of predictions, and generally they are not pessimistic. The worst predictions say while there will be no plunge from the peaks of 1953, there will be a gradual slide. Some predictors look for '54 to top 1953's all-time highs.

Officials of the state bureau of unemployment compensation predict there will be some increase in unemployment, with at the most four per cent of the persons covered by unemployment compensation law claiming benefits.

But BUC Administrator Ernest Cornell and Statistician William Papier say also there may be more people employed next year.

Cornell says since 1947 each successive year has seen new employment records in Ohio. With the industrial expansion planned for the months ahead and with normal growth in the labor force, 1954 may be another year of record employment.

"I personally doubt if there is a basis for serious concern about a depression," Cornell commented. He adds, however, with prospective curtailments in defense spending, with rising interest rates and tightening credit, declining wholesale prices, growing inventories and the tapering off of new residential construction, a "moderate setback" appears altogether possible before the end of 1954.

Economists at Ohio State University's Bureau of Business Research say the pattern in Ohio next year will follow very closely the pattern for the nation as a whole.

The reason Ohio is so close to the national trend is the state's economic diversification, a subject that Sam Arnold and James C. Yokum discuss at length in the September issue of the university's bulletin of business research.

Prof. Clifford L. James, also of the Department of Economics at Ohio State, pinpoints his predictions for next year. He says, among other things, there will be a decline of about two per cent in the total dollar value of goods and services produced in the United States. This drop, like a similar drop in 1949, will result from lower prices, rather than a decline in activity.

With the qualification, "based on the absence of any substantial changes in international frictions," Prof. James says:

"There seems to be no prospect of a serious depression. Any tendency in the latter direction would undoubtedly be offset in part by special governmental measures in addition to existing general supports for the economy."

The attitude that the federal government would not allow any such thing as a recession was voiced also by Meril A. May of Cleveland, vice president of Dun Bradstreet. May was quoted recently by the Youngstown Vindicator as saying, "It is very doubtful if any political party can maintain itself in power with any appreciable recession."

May cited other elements in an economy radically altered since the great depression. Social security, bank deposit insurance, farm price supports, government support of the farm and home mortgage market, and credit controls all work today against any severe depression.

Business men and industrialists are talking tough about '54. Take this statement by William O'Neil, president of the General Tire Rubber Co. of Akron:

"Salesmen are going to have to get back to selling to meet the test of this transition period. Pounding the pavements and ringing doorbells will replace accommodating the customer by selling him your product."

The statement aptly summarizes the attitude expressed by leaders in Ohio business and industry. They see some tough competition ahead, but they see it as part of a leveling-off or as a return to a buyer's market—not as a signpost at the edge of an economic precipice.

There is considerable talk about expansion of facilities next year. Here is a summary of how the economic picture is shaping up:

Agriculture: Ben Kienholz, Columbus, Department of Agriculture statistician, says the spread between farm receipts and farm costs may be narrowed next year "if prices keep going up," but there is "not likely to be too much change." Wheat and other grain prices showed a gain recently, but the increases have been offset by declines in other areas. The federal allotment system on wheat will reduce wheat acreage in Ohio by more than a fourth. Acreage allotments on corn also are being discussed. Ohio State Prof. James says there will probably be a lower level of agricultural exports next year. Net farm income in month by month comparisons in 1953 ranged from 2 to 6 per cent less than for corresponding periods of 1952.

Steel: The giant of Ohio industries caught up with demand during the year and by the first week in December production was at the lowest levels since the summer of 1949. At Youngstown an estimated 500-600 employees have been laid off in the last few weeks and at least 5,000 at working less than a five-day week. The scrap business, considered by some a bellwether of the steel industry, appeared headed for trouble. But industry leaders are not pessimistic over the outlook for next year.

Retail trade: The Bureau of Business Research at Ohio State says in its Ohio Retail analyst, retail sales in Ohio during the first 10 months of 1953 were eight per cent higher than for the same period of 1952. And 1952 was a record year, continuing the general upward trend of post-World War II years. Retailers expect the trend to continue through the Christmas season, generally the busiest season of the year. Prof. James predicts a slight drop in prices next year.

Employment: BUC Administrator Cornell says "payroll trimming" has been fairly general in Ohio. The average work week is dropping. During September and October, when unemployment rolls usually decrease, there was instead an increase. Layoffs have been felt in the auto parts, industrial machinery, steel textiles and leather industries—among others. Employment was at a peak in Ohio as of September, when the BUC reported 3,117,000 non-agricultural employees in the state's labor force. Cornell says each year since 1949 new records in non-agricultural employment have been established in Ohio. The average employment total in 1952 was 2,954,000, compared with the average of 2,567,000 in 1943—peak year for World War II employment.

Utility Tax Up

COLUMBUS (AP)—State Treasurer Roger W. Tracy says that $26,956,715 in taxes will be collected this year from Ohio utilities. The amount will surpass by more than $2 million utilities tax collections in 1952.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—She's in her early 20s. She wears a white sweater and a green corduroy skirt. And police of two cities are looking for her.

Here's why: She walked into two Kalamazoo stores and one in Grand Rapids. She boldly posed as a new employee among many hired for the Christmas rush. Then she tapped the cash till and departed. So far she's at least $152 ahead.

In Grand Rapids she walked up to a cash register, opened it and took $87, explaining to a trusting temporary employee: "The boss sent me to get the money."

The Prince of Peace Is Born

ISAIAH PROPHESED A WARLESS WORLD TO COME

Scripture—Isaiah 2:2-4; 9:2, 5-7; 65:17-25; Matthew 6:9; Luke 2:8-14

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

ONCE A YEAR in our unhappy world we feel a sensation of hope and peace. It is the Christmas season when we read again the story of the Lord's birth, and hear (in our consciousness) the angel proclaim the good tidings that "The Prince of Peace" was born.

The world about us grows more and more confused, revolts are reported here and there and innocent blood is shed. Nations and individuals are suspicious of one another, war often seems near, and hopes for permanent peace are likely to grow dim.

David Livingstone, the Scotch missionary-explorer, wrote from Africa:

"I do not know how the great loving Father will bring out light at last, but He knows, and He will do it."

He must cultivate his faith, and that faith always seems to get at least momentary aid when we read the prophecies of Isaiah and the New Testament story of the coming of Christ.

death, upon them hath the light shined.

"For every battle of the warrior is with confused noise and garments rolled in blood; but this shall be burning and fuel of fire.

"For unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given; and the government shall be upon His shoulders; and His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, The mighty God, the Everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.

"Of the increase of His government and peace there shall be no end, upon the throne of David, and upon his kingdom, to order it, and to establish it with judgment and with justice henceforth even forever. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform this."

True Isaiah was writing of his own time, but it is for our time, too. We are still expecting and hoping for the prophecy to come true—which it will in God's own time.

Read from the verses 17-25 of Chapter 65, to see how he visualized the future world when people would live in comfort until a more

MEMORY VERSE

"For unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given; and the government shall be upon His shoulder; and His name shall be called Wonderful, Counsellor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace."—Isaiah 9:6.

Isaiah began his prophetic ministry about 758 B. C., and he is thought to have lived to about 698 B. C. It was a time of very little government in Judah and Jerusalem, and a period of national ruin. What must his words have meant to his people! They were prophecies of hope for the time ahead—light shining on a dark world.

Isaiah visioned, thus:

"And it shall come to pass in the last days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established on the top of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills; and all the nations shall flow unto it.

"And many people shall go and say, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob, and He will teach us of His ways, and we will walk in His paths."

The temple should be set high up, so that it would be seen of all.

"And He shall judge among the nations, and shall rebuke many people; and they shall beat their ploughshares, and their spears into pruninghooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

Then in the second verse of Chapter Nine he says: "The people that walked in darkness have seen a great light: they that dwell in the land of the shadow of

Businessmen Offer 2-Point Plan For '54

Whittling, Competition Seen Keys To Helping Retain Prosperity

NEW YORK (AP)—To make 1954 a prosperous year, some leading company officials are saying today, try for a neat balance between two courses:

1. Take a stitch-in-time now.
2. Step up competition with your rivals and grab a bigger share of whatever market 1954 offers.

The stitch-in-time is the explanation a number are giving for the layoffs, production cuts and inventory whittling that has been spreading through a number of industries of late. Executives of auto, appliance and steel companies argue that by cutting back output now they are avoiding the sort of boom that could bring on a bust.

Some labor leaders have another name for it. Layoffs in the auto industry, for example, have brought union charges that far from being a forward-looking step, output slashes now are the result of past mistakes—or "reckless and irresponsible overscheduling" in the first half of 1953.

In the auto and appliance industries, where layoffs have already whittled down inventories, the emphasis is being laid on plans to push 1954 sales of new products or models, just as it will be in the auto industry.

The bigger and more diversified the company, apparently, the easier the task will be to adjust to the 1954 market.

Examples of this can be found in the auto industry where the dog fight between the big three is alarming the smaller producers, and also in the 1954 programs of the two top electrical equipment companies.

General Electric executives think that in the 1954 competitive market the company that has a national reputation can count on a bigger share of the consumer's dollar. But they aren't taking any chances. They're going to make sure by stepping up their advertising and promotion programs by around 20 per cent next year.

Westinghouse Electric officials say two of their trump cards will be: Expanded distribution facilities to get their products to the consumer; and a continuing plant expansion program which is holding down operating costs with new equipment and making it possible to step up production of such products as consumers take a shine to.

Both of the electrical giants say they are confident 1954 will be "a good year" for them. They stress the over-all steady growth of the electrical industry.

Westinghouse adds another note: The coming era of atomic power. The Atomic Energy Commission has Westinghouse busy on the job of developing the first large-scale industrial power reactor to harness the atom for civilian use. Westinghouse sees this as possibly opening up a whole new field for it—a field which GE also is eyeing.

Health Chief Tells Progress Made In Ohio On Pollution

Editor's Note: The following is another in a series of articles telling how Ohio is battling its water pollution problem.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What has Ohio's stream cleanup campaign accomplished in the last 15 months?

Dr. John D. Porterfield, chairman of the Ohio Water Pollution Control Board, says there has been a good start—but there still is a long way to go.

He bases this on a study of municipal sewage problems of Ohio urban areas. Some 5½ million people live in the cities that come under the anti-pollution campaign. When permits became necessary in September of 1952, some one million of the urban population had adequate sewage treatment, 2½ millions had inadequate treatment, and two millions had no treatment at all.

The adequate treatment figure remains the same. The total for the yet inadequate treatment group now is 3,300,000 and of the group with no treatment is 1,200,000.

Last summer 38 communities with a total population of more than two million were building new treatment plants or improving old ones. These projects had a total value of 80 million dollars. Other communities are trying to finance or make plans for treatment plants.

Some 20 communities at the last election approved more than 17 million dollars in bond issues for sewage treatment.

"Despite the rapid progress being made, we cannot expect to reach a peak of sewage plant construction until sometime in 1955 or even in 1956," Dr. Porterfield says. "This is because of the time necessary for the preparation of design plans, especially on larger projects. And then, actual construction will take several years

Right-Of-Way Suit OK'd By Tribunal

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday refused to disturb a $6,500 award to Virgil F. Mills of Canton for an Ohio Power Co. high tension line right-of-way across his farm.

The high tension line took about 4½ acres from Mills' 143 acre farm a few miles from the Canton public square. Mills said the appropriation of that land destroyed the value of his farm for allotment purposes. Stark County courts awarded Mills $2,029.50 for the tension line right of way and $4,470.50 damages for the rest of the farm.

Farce Drama Opening Ends In Disaster

LONDON (AP)—A farce called "13 for Dinner" opened last night with all gallery regulars barred by the producer, who denounced them as "play-wreckers." The evening was a disaster.

Extra cops had to rush 300 members of the Gallery First Nighters club who stood in the lobby and booed ticket holders.

The husband of the play's comedienne punched a playgoer on the nose for low-raging his wife's performance. Hubby was threatened with a date in police court.

A character on the stage said "I think I am the most bored man in town tonight" and a character in the audience shot back:

"Oh, no, you're NOT."

Upstairs 150 British army, navy and air force men, let in free to pack the gallery, sat through the performance with "the dogged sort of discipline that wins wars," as a reviewer later put it.

London press reviewers gave the offering the severest trouncing of the season.

Producer Emile Littler announced yesterday he was packing the gallery with invited servicemen because of "organized booing expeditions" at some of his other shows, including "Bruno and Sydney" which opened Sept. 9 at the Phoenix Theater and closed three nights later.

DAYTON (AP)—Police say a lone, armed bandit held up cashiers at Rike's Department store and escaped with $30,000 in cash shortly after noon yesterday.

Police said the bandit entered cashiers' cages on the 7th floor and held three women cashiers at gunpoint while he swept the money into a rag shopping bag.

EDUCATION'S "FUTURE"

OFTEN THE CENTER OF academic controversy, Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, former "boy chancellor" of the University of Chicago and for four years associate director of the Ford Foundation, has released another attack on the American educational system.

Recently discussing "Education, Has It a Future?" he replied with a resounding "No!" unless the system is sharply modified. He did not think the American people were interested in education as such, and went so far as to say:

"At the age of six the child becomes a nuisance and the people want a course of education that will take the child off the family's hands until he is 18 or 22."

That may be characteristic of the well-to-do upper and middle class English, but such a sweeping generality as applied to this country goes too far. Here parental concern with children's schooling is on the whole genuine, whether the youngsters come from homes of culture or their parents are relatively untutored, but eager to see the next generation improve itself.

Dr. Hutchins admits "our primary schools are good," but asserts "we begin to go wrong on the secondary level." The trouble, as he sees it, is too many electives. He would have high school courses determined for their cultural value by competent school authority, not left to teenagers.

For vocational education in a public school, Dr. Hutchins has little use. He does not think it the business of schools to teach trades, but believes the place to learn is actually on the job. Many will agree with him, though since the days of the "Gary system," which fitted youths to work in the steel mills, vocational education has made great strides the country over.

BORROWING TROUBLE?

THE COMMUNISTS are saying that the Big Three decision to go ahead with a four-power conference was a "victory" for their side.

The fact is that since last spring the Western powers invited the Reds to a parley on European problems on three separate occasions and were thrice rebuffed. If the fourth time succeeds, it's perhaps because the Communies were afraid they might not be asked again.

The West, particularly American, will sit down to that conference expecting very little. The onus will be on Russia to make something of it. A new show of Soviet obstructionism will strengthen the Western alliance.

Crystallization of European tensions must await the four-power session. In beginning the extra time, however, the Russians

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

Most plane riders like to sit quietly and read or ponder, but now that some of the larger planes have a section in the tail where it is permissible to smoke a cigar or a pipe, something of the atmosphere of the Club Car develops and it is good. The cigar or pipe smoker usually is also a talker.

The Club Car atmosphere is one of argument, drunk or sober, and sooner or later everybody gets into it with varying degrees of knowledge and wisdom. In a country in which everybody is entitled to express his opinion, whether he has ever done an hour's work to justify having an opinion, it is possible to hop, skip and jump from this to that and the time passes pleasantly.

Curiously, there is less talk about Eisenhower than about McCarthy, less about taxes this year than about spies—and all this is pro and con. I was traveling to and from New York and Chicago immediately after the Bermuda Conference and the President's speech, "Operation Candor," but few raised the subject either in the plane or anywhere else.

What seemed to be uppermost in most people's minds, at that moment, was what would come of the fight between Eisenhower and McCarthy, what was the Canadian game about Gouzenko, what is the truth about Fort Monmouth, why did not the FBI catch all the spies and put them in jail, is McCarthy running for President, will there be a third party, etc., etc., along these lines.

To say, as Adlai Stevenson remarked in a speech, that our people have fears is an understatement. Our people are, on the whole, not only afraid; they are disgusted. Stevenson ought to know because in his State of Illinois the disgust is so thick it can be cut like a cheese-cake. And the disgust has nothing to do with Eisenhower or Truman, much less with Stevenson, but with both political parties, which, in the minds of too many, are guilty not only of mismanagement but of failing to disclose mismanagement. There is a growing feeling in the land among the citizens that the politicians of both parties are in a conspiracy to cover up the mistakes made by any politician.

This lack of confidence in the leadership of both parties is what makes Joe McCarthy so interesting to so many. He is being discussed even by those who dislike his personality and the way he does things.

But these discussions go a little further. Many businessmen cannot understand the combination of Republican and Democratic leaders who, in order to pursue a foreign policy that does not produce the results hopes for, are now promoting an international trade policy which is already being felt by a large number of American industries.

Already the coal, oil, chemical, electrical equipment, lace, costume jewelry and other industries fear that they will be put out of business, that there is already a clinical indication of unemployment, and that sooner or later, Congress will be faced by the good, old American struggle over the tariff, with, however, this anomaly that a Republican Administration may be supporting the concept of free trade while the Democrats will be demanding legislation protecting particular commodities.

may find that they have merely borrowed trouble if they fail to show up with at least a constructive attitude.

The Cat's Paw

by — MARION SALTER

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

LIEUTENANT CHASE dropped down on the couch, casually picked a cat hair from the cover and blew it into space. "Miss Morgan," he said, "where are your cats?"

"My cats?"

"Yes. Small four-legged mammals. One gray, one yellow. Here, kitty, kitty, kitty. See, no cats. Where are they?"

"I have no cats." But she saw how obvious it was that once the sharp-clawed April and May had lived here—the patches of pulled threads on the rug, the fringe they'd made of parts of the couch cover. For that matter there were even small paw prints around, where the white feet had playfully tapped the wall.

"I did have," Charlotte went on. "But they died. It's certainly no secret, but I can't see how it has any bearing on the case."

At least, she amended to herself, I can't see how he can think that it has.

"It's this way, Miss Morgan. When I left here yesterday, after sitting on your couch, my trousers were fur-bearing, shall we say. Later, on one of Mr. Cummings' suits we found cat hairs in the same locale, and of the same colors. Gray and yellow. The tailor had returned that particular suit to Mr. Cummings only the day before Christmas. I thought you hadn't seen Mr. Cummings outside the office since last summer."

This is it, Charlotte thought, this is that unforeseen thing you've feared would show up. She put her hands to her face, as though her mask were slipping. But she looked him straight in the eye as she said, "So help me, Lieutenant, I haven't. Not since August."

"When did your cats die?"

"Well, as a matter of fact, rather recently. Christmas night."

"What was the cause of their death?" the lieutenant pursued.

"Asphyxiation. One of them apparently played with the gas jets when I was out, and in this small apartment... Well, curiosity killed."

Causes of Infertile Marriage

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ONE marriage out of every eight must look to the physician for help in achieving pregnancy. There may be no insurmountable factor preventing it, but rather a combination of circumstances and physical conditions that make professional help a necessity to produce a fertile marriage, or one in which the wife becomes pregnant within two years after the wedding. Seven out of eight American marriages are fertile in this sense. It is the eighth that is the difficult problem.

Good Health Measures

Certain measures of good health are necessary in both husband and wife, in order for the woman to bear children. Such diseases as diabetes, anemia, over-active or under-active thyroid, kidney diseases, or even severe emotional difficulties are among the conditions that can prevent pregnancy.

If there seems to be no general reason for lack of pregnancy, the physician will usually first examine the male. He is almost as often responsible for a failure to conceive as his wife, and the examination in the male is much more easily performed.

Sometimes it is necessary to take a sample or biopsy of the male sex gland and examine it beneath the microscope in order to determine why the male cannot produce the sperm necessary for pregnancy.

In rare cases, surgery may have to be performed on the male in order to relieve some defect due to injury or inheritance.

Infections of the prostate and other male glands may also be responsible for lack of sperm. Frequent prostatic massages along with the use of the antibiotic drugs can usually improve the man's fertility.

In Thyroid Cases

If thyroid disease occurs in the male, and is the cause for the lack, the administration of thyroid will most often correct this difficulty.

Sometimes there is just an insufficient production of sperm in the male, and this can be helped by hormone injections over a period lasting a few months.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. W. T.: What is Vitamin F and is it of any value to the human body?

Answer: Vitamin F, at one time, was believed to be essential in the diet. However, it is not being used in this manner by doctors any longer.

By William Ritt

Dr. Frank Lane, an Oak Ridge staffer, thinks we'll have atomic power for cooking in another half century. Meanwhile we'll just have to keep cookin' with gas.

Think of the convenience. Instead of coal thundering into the cellar, wife will say, "Dear, will you stop by the store and pick up another gram of U-235?"

And he will reply, "What did you do with that gram we got for a wedding present fifteen years ago?"

And she will say, "Oh, it's given out. Quality just isn't what it used to be."

And so it goes, or will, in the age of atomic power. A woman's work will never be done, just atomized.

It's a small world all right, any way you planet.

Let's just hope people are here to stay.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — If the Roosevelt-Truman regime's alleged coddling of Communists and fellow travelers should become a dominant issue in the 1954 and 1956 campaign, as many Republicans hope, the Democrats have a crusader against the Reds who can match Vice-President Richard M. Nixon of California and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin. Unfortunately, the terror of the subversives was virtually read out of the party by both F. D. R. and his successor.

The generally unrecognized and unwieldy Democratic anti-Communist is Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee when his party was in power. He initiated the current pursuit of the Reds before either Nixon or McCarthy landed in the Senate.

It was during his chairmanship that this body exposed the influence which the Institute of Pacific Relations, now in virtual bankruptcy, exerted on the Truman-Acheson Far Eastern policy. It was this investigation which provided the background for all subsequent inquiries into the disastrous loss of China to the Peiping-Moscow Axis.

PROGRAM — Besides disclosing the Owen Lattimore faction's apparent partiality toward the Chinese Communists, as reflected in the Acheson-Wallace-Marshall hostility toward Chiang Kai-shek, McCarran took positive action against foreign and domestic spies. It was his aggressive program which angered Roosevelt and Truman.

He was the author of the Internal Security Act, which forced the Truman Administration to create semi-independent loyalty and security agencies. The former President denounced it as unnecessary and as a slur on his "faithful appointees."

McCarran also sponsored the 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act, which was designed to prevent the entrance of subversives into this country under the guise of refugees. Congress passed it over Truman's veto by an overwhelming majority.

"HATE" LIST — McCarran ran a close third to McCarthy and Sen. Harry F. Byrd on Truman's "hate" list. As he remarked with respect to the Virginian, he used to complain that, "There are too many McCarrans in the Senate."

Although F. D. R. first named "Pat," the late President disagreed utterly with the McCarran philosophy.

As a matter of fact, McCarran's dogged tracking of the Reds did not endear him to his Democratic colleagues, although they respect him. The stocky, gray-haired Westerner and former Nevada chief justice refused to back down when they argued that his exposes and legislation which cut the Democratic vote in many metropolitan centers, would insure defeat in the 1952 presidential election.

He did not even point out that the same defeat would cost him the chairmanship of one of the Senate's most influential committees as it did. Judiciary is now headed by Sen. William Langer of North Dakota, Maverick Republican.

EFFECTIVE — McCarran has many other political assets, although he would hardly use them on behalf of the Truman-Stevenson faction of the party. He has great strength in the West because of his legislative gains for mining and conservation interests. Organized labor backed him solidly a few years ago, when New York radicals shipped money and literature into Nevada to defeat him. He also has two sisters who are nuns.

An effective orator and stump speaker, McCarran could be the Democrats' secret weapon against a Republican campaign based on the Communist issue. But in view of the Party bigwigs' hostile attitude toward him, including that of the 1952 nominee, he will remain as an extremely "secret" weapon.

QUESTIONS — Republicans and Democrats assembling at Washington for pre-Congress sessions seem agreed on several politically front-page questions, to wit:

- (1) There can be no real expectation of a worthwhile or permanent agreement with Russia at the Jan. 4 conference of Foreign Ministers in Berlin;
- (2) Stevenson is definitely a candidate for renomination;
- (3) The Republicans and Eisenhower must make a good record at the forthcoming session, or they may lose both House and Senate next year;
- (4) Communism will be a live issue in next year's congressional contests.

Union Veterans Daughters Hold Daughters' Day Dinner

Mrs. E. Tolbert Tells Of Founding

Daughters of Union Veterans held their annual Daughters' Day dinner and Christmas party Thursday evening in Glitt's Restaurant.

Following dinner, Mrs. B. M. Wignel was presented a gift by Mr. James Carpenter in behalf of the officers and members of the Tent. Gifts were distributed by Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. Frank Webbe, from beneath a lighted Christmas tree.

Mrs. E. L. Tolbert, patriotic instructor of the group, presented program. She gave a history of the founding of the organization, stating that December 12 is the 68th anniversary of the Daughters of Union Veterans.

Five schoolgirls of Massillon were the founders of the group, said Mrs. Tolbert. Eva Mervin, Frank Mervin, Harriett Knapp, Olive Howald and Bertha Martin, after several meetings, appointed a committee to write to Major William McKinley, at that time a congressman, to ask for advice on how to gain authority to issue charters.

He advised that incorporation papers be applied for. The Secretary of the State of Ohio issued papers Dec. 12, 1885, to the organization, the first of its kind in the history of America.

The ritual was written on July 24, 1886 by five Daughters of Union Veterans and one member of the Grand Army of the Republic. It has become the custom to commemorate this day in some special way.

Mrs. Tolbert closed her speech with a poem "The Old Grand Army Hall," written by Mrs. Margaret Blake of Richmond, one of the past department presidents of Daughters of Union Veterans of Ohio.

Mrs. W. E. Pickens read the story of the Nativity. Group singing of "Silent Night" followed the story of its origin, given by Mrs. LeRoy Thomas.

Readings on the customs of different countries were given by Mrs. James Pierce, Mrs. Carpenter, Miss Laura Mader, Mrs. H. G. Bauser, Mrs. C. O. Kerns, Mrs. Frank Webbe and Mrs. Wignel.

Mrs. Tolbert gave a resume of the writing of the "O Little Town of Bethlehem," followed by group singing of the carol.

Installation of officers is to be held at a meeting planned for Jan. 5.

Gift exchange was followed by refreshments served by the hostess.

Next meeting is to be held Jan. 12 in the home of Mrs. Don Strous of Adelphi.

Other officers named were Miss Martha Reid, vice-president, Roy Wood, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Stout, corresponding secretary.

Miss Ruth Montelius, outgoing president, conducted a business meeting, during which a committee was named to make posters for a Polio Drive in January. Committee members are Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Miss Reid, H. E. Montelius, Mrs. Edwin Bach Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Luna and Mr. Stout.

A turkey dinner was served to 16 members and five guests from a table centered with a red and white Christmas flower arrangement, which was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Stout by the group. The entire studio was decorated in Christmas motif.

Guests were Oren Webb, Mrs. Gene Kuhns, Mrs. Naomi Frazier, Mrs. Leroy Bixler, and Mrs. Evelyn Schiller, all of Chillicothe Art League.

Mr. Wood took pictures of the group during the program and presented gifts of appreciation to Miss Montelius and Mr. and Mrs. Stout for their work in promoting the league. A gift exchange also was held.

Prizes for the best costumes representing paintings and various phrases of art were awarded Mrs. Robinson, first and Mrs. Schiller, second.

Nebraska Grange Plans Charity Dance At Meeting

Nebraska Grange made plans to sponsor a dance Jan. 16 at Walnut Township school, with proceeds to be used for contributions to charity. Plans were made at a regular meeting, with Worthy Master Joseph Peters presiding.

Christmas greetings were read from County deputies, Mr. and Mrs. John Dowler. An invitation was read from Scioto Valley Grange to attend a recreation night to be held Jan. 2 in Scioto Grange hall. Each family is to bring sandwiches or cookies.

Contributions were voted to be made to Pickaway County Tuberculosis and Health Association. A collection was taken to purchase a gift for Pickaway County Children's Home.

Carl Bennett presented a Christmas program, which opened with group singing of Christmas carols. Roll call was answered by telling "What Christmas Means to Me." Following a vocal solo by Mrs. David Dill, accompanied by Mrs. Joseph Peters, the meeting was closed with group singing and refreshments.

Regular meeting to have been held Jan. 5 has been cancelled as all Granges in the County are to attend a traveling program, which is to be presented by Washington Grange at Salt Creek Valley Grange.

A covered-dish dinner is to be held at 6:30 p. m. Jan. 19, with program to follow.

World To Get Another Taste Of Red Purge

Beria Trial Slated To Reveal Workings Of Russian 'Justice'

NEW YORK (AP)—The world—Russians included—soon will be treated to the spectacle of one more Communist purge trial in which the defendants abjectly confess to treason.

This time the accused are seven men, four of them Stalin's homeland of Georgia and all veteran police and intelligence executives. Heading them is Lavrenty Beria, who for 15 years ran the dread Soviet secret police and other security organs.

The Soviet government gave them power of life and death over the millions of Soviet citizens and they used it—as every Russian knows—to send many to exile or death. How many the world may never know.

Soon they themselves will stand up in a Soviet court and declare that all along they were taking their instructions from foreign intelligence services and exercising their extraordinary powers to sabotage the Soviet Union.

This is the meaning of the document published in Moscow on Beria and his henchmen a few hours ago.

It is not clear whether this is the formal indictment against them. It is also not clear yet whether their trial will be held in secret or be attended by certain invited members of the Soviet public and also possibly foreign newsmen and diplomats in Moscow.

These questions don't seem to matter a great deal, for in any case the main outlines of the charges are clear and a guilty verdict is a foregone conclusion.

Most of Moscow's latest document is not new. It repeats the accusations already made last July that Beria plotted to seize power that he sabotaged government agricultural plans, that he attempted to undermine the Soviet policy on nationalities, that he was a foreign spy.

What is new is the list of men accused of plotting with Beria. On it is one new name of importance—Army Gen. Vsevolod Merkulov, former minister of state security and later minister of state control until Sept. 17, nearly three months after the Beria arrest. It was not previously known that Merkulov had been arrested.

The list of the accused also makes clear that the Beria trial is apparently to be restricted in scope to police executives only, and mostly Georgians, and probably will not involve big names in the U.S.S.R. other than Beria and Merkulov.

Also new in the Beria document are the specific charges that he was an agent for 34 years with Transcaucasian anti-Soviet organizations, one of which allegedly associated with British intelligence. No involvement with Americans is yet charged, though it is certainly quite possible some such charges will be made at the trial.

The Soviet government could, now that the Beria case has waited nearly six months, simply have announced without details Beria's conviction and execution. It could even have said nothing more about Beria.

Instead it has decided to make a fairly big thing of the trial. This seems to indicate that the Malenkov government feels it can use this show to make good its charges against Beria, and to gain popularity with the Russians.

That the trial and subsequent execution of these hated policemen will be popular with Russians can be little doubt.

Among other things it signals the expulsion of Stalin's Georgians from positions of power, and the return to Russian hands of all organs of high authority in the U.S.S.R.—including now the police as well as the Communist party and the Soviet army.

But some Russians are likely to be skeptical when it comes to giving full faith and credit to the specific charges that Beria and his men have been working for foreign spy agencies for 34 years. This, by implication, would make Stalin, Malenkov and everyone else around them very glib and easily fooled men, which Russians are not likely to believe they were.

For the world outside the Beria trial is an ominous sign that Malenkov cannot get along without the purge trial technique any more than could Stalin before him and that there will be more such trials in the future. Stalin is to some extent being disavowed by the new rulers of Russia but not apparently his methods.

Judge's Kin Dies

ZANESVILLE (AP)—Funeral services for Charles O. Marshall, retired farmer and brother of former Ohio Supreme Court Justice Carington T. Marshall, will be held here Sunday.

Dog-Loving Judge Orders Cats' Return

NEW BRAUNFELS, Tex. (AP)—It shouldn't happen to a dog, the judge ruled, for a suitor to hold a father's pet cats for "ransom" in "mad, unrestrained and unbridled" demands for his daughter's affections.

So Dist. Judge John Fuchs ordered Air Force Lt. John Farrar to give the three cats back.

J. B. Powell of New York thereupon took the cats and his blonde daughter and left for Florida.

Miss Robin Powell came to New Braunfels a couple of weeks ago, her father's petition said, to discuss marriage plans with Farrar, stationed at Gary Air Force Base here. Powell arrived later, bringing the three cats.

He found that his daughter had decided against marrying Farrar. Powell, Robin and the cats moved from Farrar's house to another about a quarter of a mile away, but "the cats promptly returned to the residence and dwelling of the defendant, their former home."

Powell alleged in his petition that Farrar refused to return the cats and "has kidnaped them, which in cat vernacular might be referred to as 'catnaped' and is holding them for ransom."

The "ransom," Powell charged, "is the renewal of the affections of plaintiff's daughter and her promise to marry him."

In ordering the cats returned to Powell, Judge Fuchs added: "If something like this happened to my dog, I would certainly fight to get him back."

Overwork Kills Father Of 7

DETROIT (AP)—A 40-year-old father of seven working at two jobs to make extra money for Christmas is dead today. The two jobs, police said, killed him.

Bernard S. Skop died last night as his car smashed into a safety island on busy Woodward avenue. He had been working as a welder and as a filling station attendant. Police quoted witnesses as saying he apparently was tired out and fell asleep.

Italian General Very Embarrassed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Brig. Gen. Enrico Cigerza, air attache for the Italian Embassy in Washington, was here yesterday to present a bust from his government to the Dayton Art Institute in honor of the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

But the bust didn't arrive. "I am a poor man, alone in a lot of trouble," said Cigerza. "This upsets me very, very much. I apologize in the name of the ambassador I represent."

The bust, somewhere between here and Rome, is either a likeness of the late Mario Calderara, Wilbur Wright's first Italian pupil, or of Wilbur himself.

28-Foot Globe Being Erected

WELLESLEY, Mass. (AP)—Construction was well under way today on a gigantic globe nearly 28 feet in diameter—designed to be the world's largest revolving globe.

A $200,000 project, it is expected to be finished late in 1955 after welders complete the 21½-ton steel skin, a geographer maps the continents and oceans and painters translate his work to the steel sphere.

The globe, on a scale of 24 miles to the inch, is being constructed by Babson Institute of Business Administration at its campus, Babson Park.

25 UAW Members Slated For Firing

COLUMBUS (AP)—Twenty-five members of Local 927, CIO-United Auto Workers Union, who reportedly engaged in violence during the eight-week strike against North American Aviation, Inc., will be fired, the company says.

Eleven of the men have been charged with bombing property belonging to non-strikers; 14 others were identified in motion pictures of violence at the Columbus plant Nov. 17. The union said it would discuss the discharges and lodge a protest if "we don't feel it's right."

95 GI Prisoners Given Clemency

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—A Christmas clemency order today brought the release of 95 prisoners from the U. S. Army stockade in Pusan. Maj. Gen. William S. Lawton, commander of the Korean Communications Zone, said the 95 represented almost a fourth of all the prisoners held here in the Army's only stockade in Korea. The order affected prisoners who would have completed their sentences by Jan. 15 or would have been eligible for clemency by that date.

100-Voice CHS Choir To Present Four-Part Vesper Service Sunday

At 4 p. m. Sunday, the 100-voice Circleville High School Choir will present a vesper program of distinctive Christmas music in the school auditorium.

Theme of the program, directed by Truman Eberly, is "Christmas Carols and Customs of the World." The auditorium has been especially decorated by members of the choir, members have been doing a bit of extra library research to learn customs of many lands and rehearsals have been held to practice those "little things" which make the difference between an ordinary program and an extraordinary one.

The program consists of four parts: Part I begins with the appealing "Silent Night, Holy Night" and proceeds to the anthems "Break Forth, O Beauteous Heavens Light" by Bach, "Today There Is Ringing" by Christiansen, "Christmas Lullaby" by Mozart with Soprano Joyce Troutman as soloist, and "Winds Through the Olive Trees" by MacFarlane.

In Part II, a mythical flying trip is taken to many of the countries of the world through narrative and song. Several senior girls, including Phyllis Dresbach, Lissa Given, Patsy Huston and Nancy Hughes, will tell a few notable Christmas customs of each nationality prior to the singing of a representative carol of that country.

THE CAROLS include: United States of America "Everywhere, Everywhere, Christmas Tonight," and the spiritual "Go, Tell It on the Mountains;" Wales — "Deck the Hall with Boughs of Holly;" England—the song of the charitable king "Good King Wenceslas;" Netherlands—"In Bethlehem, the Lowly;" France—the soft lullaby "The Sleep of the Child Jesus;" Spain—a carol with typical Spanish rhythm "Come, All Ye Children;" Sicily—"Oh, How Joyfully," from the original "O Sanctissima;" Italy—"Oh! Night Among the Towers," sung by the girls of the choir; Czechoslovakia — the familiar Moravian melody "Come, All Ye Shepherds;" Austria—"As Lately We Watched;" Germany—the carol sometimes called "The Echo Song," "My Sheep Were Grazing" with quartet echo; Poland—"In A Manger He Is Lying;" Sweden — "The Happy Christmas Comes Once More;" Ukraine—the carol sung on radio and TV as "Carol of the Bells;" "Rieg, Christmas Bells."

At this point in the program, the high school girls' sextet, composed of Patsy Huston, Joyce Troutman, Nancy Eitel, Carol Leist, Elaine Burkhardt and Weta Mae Leist with piano accompanist Barbara Samuel, sing four carols. These carols probably will be performed for the first time in Circleville for this event and are fine carols both in music and in text.

They are: for China—"Stars of Ice;" for Mexico an enactment of the shepherds and the innkeeper of Bethlehem, "The Shepherds and the Inn;" for Puerto Rico—a carol which emphasizes the Puerto Rican love of flowers, "Flower Gift, Aguinaldo;" and Canada—a folk carol of the people, "Whence, O Shepherd Maiden?" Concluding carols upon returning to the United States are the spiritual "Rise Up, Shepherds, and Foller" and the ever-popular "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day."

Part III in the program represents an introduction of something not done recently in the annual vesper programs, namely, group singing of several familiar carols by choir and audience. This is an opportunity for all those present to give vent to song in the Christmas spirit.

Part IV of the program is a short group of three anthems which have received praise and notice during previous performances. They are: "There Were Shepherds" by Vincent; "Lullaby On Christmas Eve" by Christiansen with Soprano Patsy Huston as soloist; and "O Holy Night" by Adam.

Weta Mae Leist is piano accompanist for the group. Admission is free, and the public is invited to hear the local boys and girls in their Christmas performance.

Diaper Service Contest Disputed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A judge pondered today the solution of Mrs. Louise Davidson's problem: how to get the $100 savings bond she says a diaper service owes her because she predicted two months in advance the exact day and hour of her baby's birth.

Mrs. Davidson, 27, told the court she has been unable to collect, that she was embarrassed because people kidded her about having the baby paid for, and that she had to hire baby sitters while trying to collect the bond.

An attorney for the diaper service said it has no record of Mrs. Davidson filling out a card in the contest and that the driver who distributed the cards last January quit and took the records with him.

The suit against the Napp Diaper Service was taken under submission.

"DRINKING is a big traffic safety problem at Christmas time," he said. "With all the parties and celebrations that take place around this time, there is much more drinking. And the trouble starts when people who have been drinking venture out in traffic."

Greene pointed out it takes maximum alertness to stay safe in today's hazardous traffic. Since alcohol slows reactions and impairs judgment, it reduces alertness.

"And I want to make it clear," he said, "that pedestrians, as well as motorists, should not venture into traffic after they've been drinking. A pedestrian needs a clear head every minute to protect him from injury by cars. The slightest befuddlement can cost him his life."

Greene appealed to Pickaway County citizens to protect themselves this holiday season by making arrangements beforehand for transportation to and from parties at which they know they'll be drinking. Those planning parties and other large gatherings, he said, should be especially careful to make provision for transportation if alcoholic beverages are to be served at the affair.

Meanwhile, the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators has been urging for several years certain simple precautions which have curtailed after-party accidents were practiced.

Because coffee is a medically authenticated antidote for alcohol, the group suggests that it be served as the final drink of every holiday party—the "one for the road."

"We do not claim that a cup of coffee will instantly make an unfit driver completely sober," the group says, "but we do hold that if his last drink is coffee instead of something stronger that driver's chances for a safe trip home will be improved."

Tests conducted at Cornell University have proved that coffee, taken after drinking, reduces the number of errors made because of inebriety. And, since errors cause highway accidents, it would appear

Prevention Program Alters March Of Dimes Fund Split

Three-Way Divvy Slated During 1954

One-Third Of All Funds To Go For GG And Vaccine

A new polio prevention program being launched by the March of Dimes this year is proving so costly it has become necessary for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to revise the keystone of its financial policy—distribution of March of Dimes funds.

In the past, March of Dimes funds were divided evenly between the National Foundation's 3,100 county chapters and national headquarters.

Under the new system, one-third of all March of Dimes receipts will be contributed by chapters and headquarters to the polio prevention fund. The balance of funds will be split evenly, as in the past.

Since a third of the $75 million needed in the 1954 March of Dimes campaign will amount to less than the $26.5 million required for the polio prevention program, headquarters of the National Foundation expects to make up the difference from its share of this year's campaign receipts.

IN ADDITION to meeting the differential costs, headquarters of the Foundation will use its portion of March of Dimes receipts for professional and public education, emergency aid to chapters and continuing scientific research. The chapter half of funds remaining after provision for the polio prevention program will go, as in the past, for local patient care costs and, in emergencies, for patient treatment elsewhere.

On the basis of past experience, it is estimated the normal responsibilities of the chapters and national headquarters in 1954 will require the balance of the $75 million needed in the current March of Dimes campaign after the costs of the polio prevention program are deducted.

The new fund distribution plan was authorized by the National Foundation's voluntary Board of Trustees to provide for mass gamma globulin inoculations and field testing of a trial vaccine in 1954—the twin elements of the polio prevention program.

Of the $26.5 million needed for this new program, $7.5 million will go for the development and testing of the vaccine and $19 million for the stopgap GG program.

Gamma globulin is getting the lion's share of the fund so that at least double the amount available in 1953 will be on hand this year. Moreover, GG will be the only existing weapon against polio in 1954, since the results of the vaccine tests cannot possibly be known until after the polio season is over this year.

The 50-50 fund distribution between chapters and national headquarters has characterized the National Foundation's fiscal policy ever since the March of Dimes organization was established by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1938.

WITH THE advent of the polio prevention program, however, it became apparent that national headquarters could not carry the additional burden alone. For one thing, the administration of GG was, in a sense, a part of the chapters' patient care program and, for another, the mass vaccine trials amounted to a move from the laboratories of research into the everyday life of counties scattered throughout the nation.

Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, has pointed out to chapter chairmen that, "although the polio prevention program will be carried out in local communities, the trustees concluded that it would be unrealistic and uneconomical to administer the financial aspects of the program on a local level. It was decided, therefore, that the purchase of great quantities of gamma globulin from the Armed Forces and from the various commercial laboratories, as well as the administration of a vaccine trial, must, of necessity, be done at the national level."

At the same time, he added, the cost would have to be shared by chapters since it was patently impossible to carry on the new program and continue national headquarters' traditional responsibilities of research, education and emergency aid with only one-half of all the March of Dimes funds collected.

He explained the necessity of continuing expenditures for scientific research in the face of the new polio prevention program by saying:

"We cannot put all our eggs in one basket. We must explore other vaccines and we must be ready to improve the one we are testing now. If we were sure this particular vaccine was the final answer we would not need to test its effectiveness; on the other hand, if we were not confident of its possibilities we would not be testing it at all."

"It must also be remembered that there are many who were born too soon to benefit from the hoped-for results of this vaccine testing program. We must do everything we can in the study of treatment methods and in the training of professional personnel to insure that these people who have already been handicapped by polio do not become forgotten men."

If the cost of the polio prevention program seems large, Mr. O'Connor said, it should be remembered that the National Foundation, since its inception, has spent $174 million on patient aid. If all or a great deal of this could be prevented in the future, he added, the program would be "inexpensive indeed—completely apart from the human factors involved."

Los Angeles Eyes Pennsylvania City

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles drew a round of laughter yesterday in a humorous reference to the West Coast city's efforts to replace Philadelphia as the nation's third largest city.

Poulson, visiting this city to inspect antismog devices, was asked about Los Angeles' means of boosting city population by annexing surrounding communities. "In this respect," Poulson told Mayor Brighton C. Diffenderger, "I am anxious and ready to annex Allentown."

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post-office Department says it will give customary handling to Christmas mail despite President Eisenhower's action giving all federal workers half a day off Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

The department has announced as many employees as can be spared will be released, and that those who have to work more than four hours will be given compensating time off within 30 days.

On Dec. 24, mail service will be the normal week-day service. On Christmas Day, postoffice windows will be closed, but there will be all-day delivery of "anything that looks like a gift."
